

TIGHTEN YOUR BELTS

I got a large sheet of heavy cardboard (beige) and across was the heading TIGHTEN YOUR BELTS. I then cut different colored strips of construction paper about 1 inch wide and marked off a line every 1/2 inch, at the top of each strip I made a black square to represent a buckle. When a member lost they were allowed to put their name at the top of the belt buckle, each loss after that they were able to snip off a 1/2 inch section. This went on until the belt buckle was only left. The first member that successfully reached the buckle was the winner. With the KOPS they were allowed to snip if they were at or below goal. We had a prize for the KOPS also.
